OCTOBER 23RD & 29TH FOUNDATIONS OF RESTORATIVE FACILITATION

Community Group Conferencing (CGC)

CGC is the model most often used in restorative justice programs around the state of Colorado. CGC is utilized when harm has been done. It brings victims of offenses, the individual who offended and community members together. The conference is facilitated by a trained professional who works with the conference members to fully express what happened, how the incident has affected them and come to an agreement to repair the harm.
